judaicus 1894 since the founding america s faith in a democratic republic has depended on citizens who could be trusted to be communicators vigorous talk about equality rights and justice has sustained the republic s beliefs and the constitution with its amendments in a republic the people set the terms for their lives not individually but in community the genius of keeping it alive exists in how everyday citizens talk and listen write and read for a common good dialogue and deliberation rather than an accumulation of individual preferences expressed through competitive and scandalous rhetoricChoices that jeopardizes citizens access to shared and truthful information a disturbing what s in it for me too often characterizes the political style of elected officials the basic fuel for democracy is the willingness of informed citizens to take each other seriously as they talk about political choices once we begin to clam up build walls and dismiss each other we unravel the threads tying us to the founders vision of a republican free press and free speech become meaningless if not supported by sustained listening to multiple positions there are those who profit by dividing
