literary naturalism as a genre naturalism she states is a way of imagining the world and the relation of the self to the world a way of making sense and making narrative out of the comforts and discomforts of its historical moment howard believes that naturalism accomodates the sense of perilousness uncertainty and disorder that many americans felt in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries she argues for a redefinition of the form which allows it to be seen as an immanent ideology responding to a specific historical situation working both from accepted definitions of naturalism and from close analysis of the literary texts themselves howard constructs a new description of the genre in terms of its thematic antinomies patterns of characterization and narrative strategies she defines a range of historical and cultural reference for the ideas and images of american naturalism and suggests that the form has affinities with such contemporary ideologies as political progressivism and criminal anthropology in the process she demonstrates that genre criticism and historical analysis can be combined to create a powerful method for writing literary history throughout howard s study the concept of genre is used not as a prescriptive straitjacket but as a category allowing the perception of significant similarities and differences among literary works and the coordination of textual analysis with the history of literary and social forces for howard naturalism is a dynamic solution to the problem of generating narrative from the particular historical the theory of secularisation became a virtually unchallenged truth of twentieth century social science first sketched out by enlightenment philosophers then transformed into an irreversible global process by nineteenth century thinkers the theory was given substance by the precipitate drop in religious practice across western europe in the 1960s however the re emergence of acute conflicts at the interface between religion and politics has confounded such assumptions it is clear that these ideas must be rethought yet as this distinguished international team of scholars reveal not everything contained in the idea of secularisation was false analyses of developments since 1500 reveal a wide spectrum of historical processes partial secularisation in some spheres has been accompanied by sacralisation in others utilising new approaches derived from history philosophy politics and anthropology the essays collected in religion and the political imagination offer new ways of thinking about the urgency of religious issues in the contemporary world
